bonfire and parade set homecoming spirits ablaze unseasonably warm weather during homecoming week helped ignite the spark for friday night's homecoming bonfire. enthusiastic pep talks, rousing cheers, introduction of the spirited huskies, were only small sparks in the program. to enlighten the evening, a daring feat — the torch routine —was done by ann strait. a traditional float theme was not used so that more ingenious entries could be added to the parade. cheerleaders, majorettes, marching band, rythmettes, and decorated cars ushered the floats back into the stadium where judging was held and results announced at half-time.

excitement increases as huskies "muzzle" pirates it was the first homecoming victory since '71 and another taste of victory for the huskies as they stumped the st. charles pirates with a 27-6 triumph. halftime score stood at 14-6. halftime activities included announcing the junior class as first place winners in float and ribbon competition, introducing the court, and crowning connie whiting as queen. performances by the marching band, majorettes, and rhthmettes also brought added enjoyment to the festivities.

larry maclin, lb, eluded would be tacklers and broke upfield to score two touchdowns on intercepted st. charles passes. for his efforts, larry was named post dispatch "lineman of the week."

couples boogie & bump the end to another homecoming a homecoming victory earlier was just one more reason for celebrating saturday night as couples boogied and bumped the end to another homecoming.

the band, "four miles high," led the way up "stairway to heaven," which was the theme for the dance: a time for graduates to remember and undergraduates to anticipate. a night which tomorrow will transform into memories.

students see america first on monday, october 7, 29 bright, bushy-eyed students and various faculty chaperons left st. louis on an early morning flight to washington, d.c.

the students toured thomas jefferson's home, monticello, williamsburg, and philadelphia. philadelphia replaced new york city on the trip's itinerary. "as our bicentenial year approaches, i think it would be beneficial for students to visit sections of our country that are of historical value," commented mr. russell stokes, assistant principal.

other sights included jamestown, the white house, jefferson memorial, and gettysburg.

sheree compton summers in france last summer found sheree compton in marseille, france, living with the deplano family. sheree, a 1974 graduate, had one week's orientation in paris before traveling by bus to marseille, the largest seaport on the mediterranean sea.

she often went to the riviera. perhaps the happiest moment of her trip was when she visited with viviane rabadan in toulouse, last year's foreign exchange student.

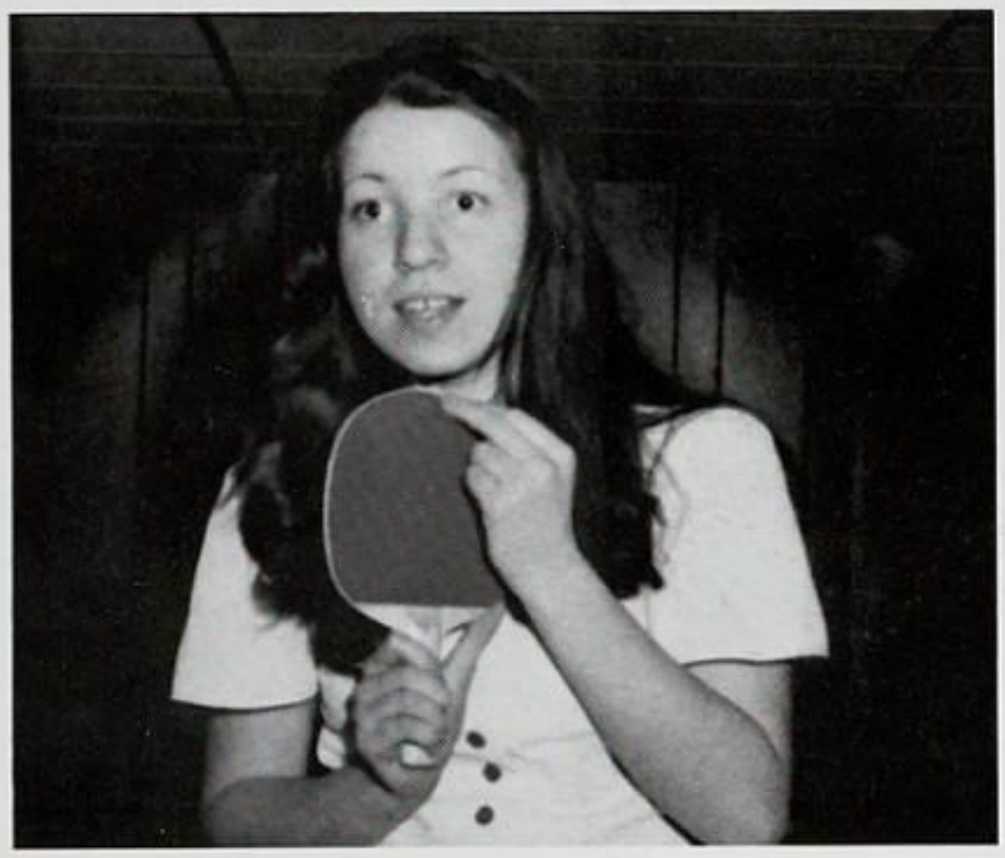
meet the turk . . .



"no. 151, what is the answer to problem four?" the above scene was not in a prison, but in a school in gaziantep, turkey where elcin mazlum, our foreign exchange student, attended classes.

according to elcin, the relationship between student and teacher is kept very impersonal.

during her stay, elcin is living with the vaniseghem family and enjoys many of the same forms of recreation as americans.

she is a member of afs and the girl's basketball team, a student council representative, and a member of terpsichore.

it has been a great experience for elcin learning many new and interesting things as it has been for those who know her. we hope she has learned from us as much as we have learned from her.

"our town" . . . a challenging success tom midden, looking a little disheveled and confused over a missed cue, appeared on stage without his shoes; but the play went on as did life in grovers corner where "our town" lit the stage.

the sparcely decorated stage; tables, chairs, and step ladders, traditional in the set of the play, challenged the actors' and actresses' performances. there were no elaborate sets to fall back on. they had to do well and they did — for two nights — november 23 and 24.

juniors enjoy another victory in annual powderpuff clash junior girls enjoyed a three-fold victory in the annual powder puff clash held on wednesday, november 27.

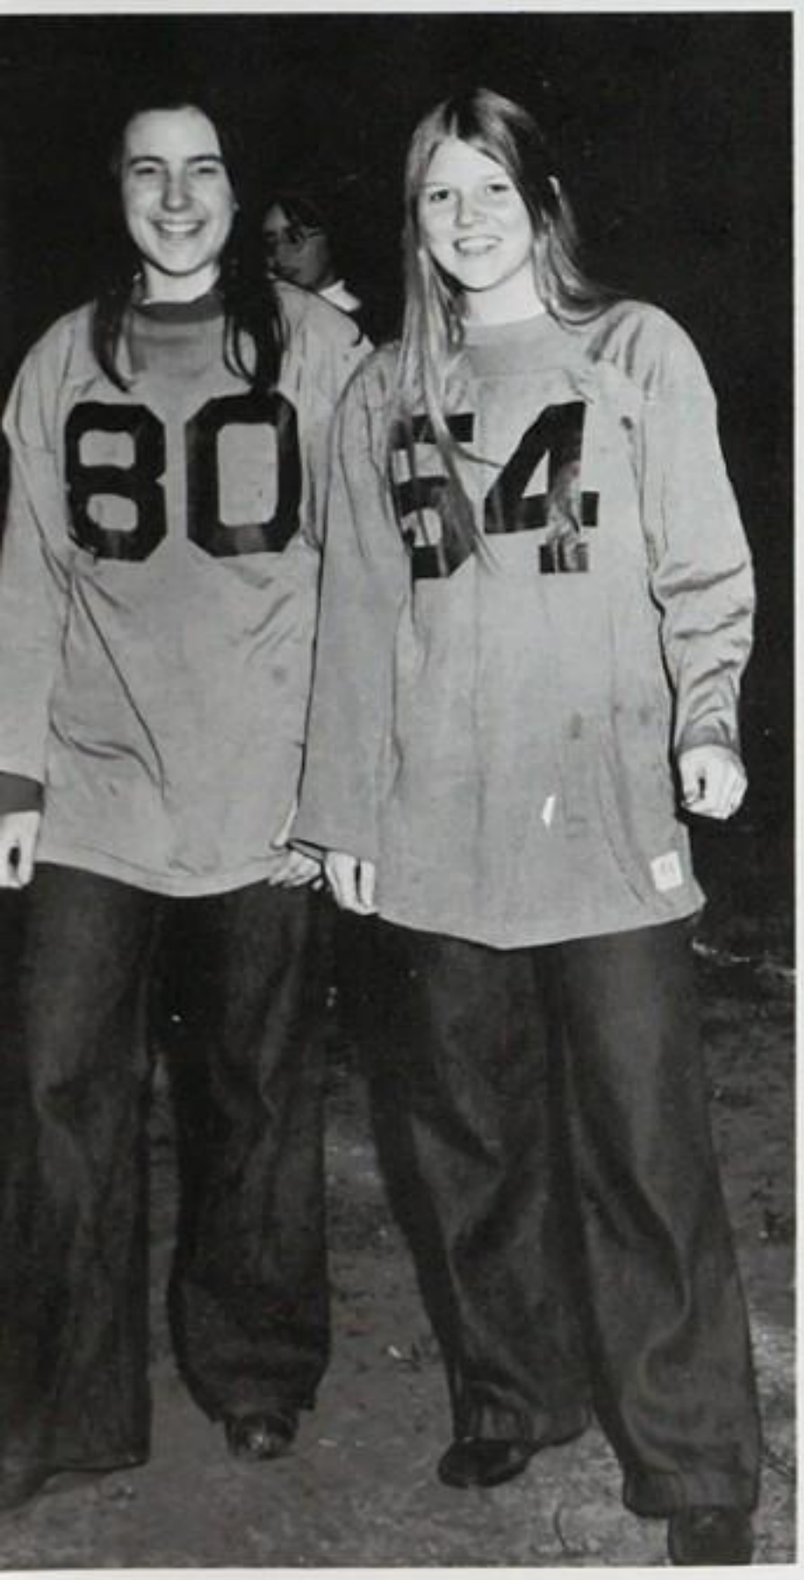
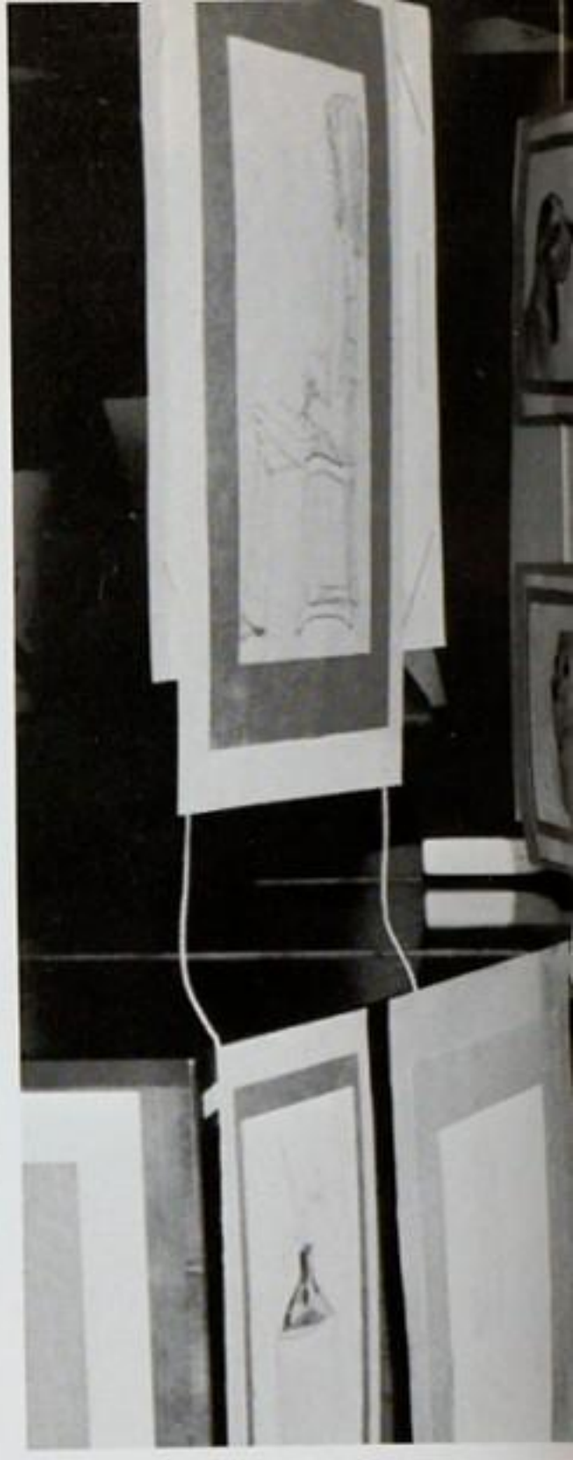
sparked by junior, selina (spanky) madison's three touchdown runs, juniors edged the seniors 25 to 19.

in addition to being on top in the scoring, juniors ended up on top of a few seniors when two fights erupted. a few punches were landed, but no physical damage was done, just insult added to injury.





artistic talent exhibited at noel des arts show budding artists got a chance to show off their talents at the noel des arts show held december 19 & 20. Students were allowed to visit the art show on special passes and on many occassions the library was packed with sensitive art critics.

entries were accepted in the fields of ceramics, sculpture, painting, crafts, drawing, design and graphics. many of the pieces were for sale with all money going to the artist. for many, the art show gave students a chance to see the talents of other students. for others, it was a way to get out of a boring class and have something interesting to do.

whatever the reason for coming, once there you could see many intent faces looking over the talents of budding young artists.

language festival highlights christmas season last december the foreign language department presented its first christmas program. it was attended by a capacity crowd that filled the girls' gym. entertainment varied, including a "night before christmas" skit by the german classes and a can-can dance performed by girls in the french classes. a reception in the upper cafeteria followed the program featuring mexican tea cookies, french lace cookies, streusel, and various other foreign desserts.

van, the cafeteria custodian, ho ho ho-ed his way into the hearts of 47 children at the annual christmas dinner given by student council december 19th. portraying santa, van was joined by sir james the magician who entertained children gobbling their feast of hamburgers, french fries, and ice cream. a christmas tree was donated for the occasion by the ritenour optimist club. donations for gifts were gathered during lunch hours december 9-11 by student santas and helpers.

to help further instill the spirit of christmas for ritenour students, student council also held their annual door decorating contest. first place was awarded to mr. gene jackson's homeroom, 222.

faculty slips by students once more charmin' charlie, (alias mr. charles platipodis) led the teachers to a heartbreaking 71-70 victory over the students in the annual student-faculty game.

the february 27 victory was the teachers' ninth in ten years. adding to the obvious excitement was senior tom long who announced the game and helped the students forget their loss.

halftime entertainment featured women faculty members, who under the direction of mrs. ann eaton, belted out a rousing pom pon routine to "three little fishies." despite the sore limbs incurred from the game, the teachers, greased down with "ben-gay", were able to return to normal class procedure the next day.

"sugar," the spice of life, sprinkles stage a cappella choir and orchestra combined talents once more in the production of "sugar".

audiences in attendance, which amounted to more than 3000, enjoyed the escapades of two male musicians, joe and jerry, who join an all girl band and become josephine and daphne.

under the direction of mr. allen byers and mr. jim eaton, the story moved well both dramatically and musically.

proceeds from the musical went to fund the choir and orchestra's annual trip.

a weekend of fun and ideas one thousand junior and senior high school students from around the state got a taste of life at ritenour when they attended the masc convention, march 20-22, based on the theme, "together today for a stronger tomorrow." delegates attended sessions dealing with different aspects and facets of student government.

during their spare time, special activities such as a soc hop, recreational activities, performances by such groups as terpsichore and rythmettes, and a banquet were held.

coe breakfast

a coe breakfast was held for the first time on thursday, may 8. the 7 a.m. food class gave the breakfast to honor their employers. every monday students chipped in ten cents. the class would then visit one of the student's place of business every third thursday in the month.

in january the class decided to save their money and have a breakfast in the cafeteria to honor employers. guest speaker was mr. everett pierce, coe coordinator for the parkway school district. the breakfast was a huge success and will be made an annual event occurring on the second thursday in may each year.

one of the actors in the spring play looses his voice completely the night of dress rehearsal and is unable to appear opening night. that was the predicament. mrs. joan yeager, producer of "time out for ginger," found herself in. sr. bill kerr was scheduled to play principal mr. wilson when he lost his voice. kelly saunders stepped in, and with a little rewording of the script, became principal mrs. wilson. despite this and a few other complications, the play was presented may 9 and 10.

chicken and rice & everything nice after couples attempted and/or managed to devour their chicken sauté burgundy (hen and rice), they could look forward to an enjoyable evening mingling among friends or dancing to the sounds of summit.

during a band intermission, prom court was introduced and jamie breck crowned queen. couples left marriott shortly thereafter to create their own "hoopla" and to add the finishing touches to the evening's event.

graduation: only the beginning senior hysteria, also known as senioritis, generally strikes one in the latter part of the school year; the class of '75 was no exception. end of the year antics were at their highest during the last week of school including a shower of superballs from the cafeteria balcony and the annual interior decorating of the halls. graduation, the climax and final farewell to ritenour, closed out the school year and ended a high school career for more than 900 students.

cross country . . . a lonely sport? not on your life. cross country is a sport for a challenging person, a person that will use hard work and determination to do well. it's a sport that relies on their competitive nature, their pride of fellow team members and themselves. it's a sport not many are willing to do, nor willing to run 10-17 miles every day, all year round.

is this determination? yes. a person has to have it if he wants to succeed. his personal rewards are many, self- satisfaction being among them. the highlight of the season was the third place trophy from the hancock invitational. they beat 19 other teams, some of them top teams. this was the first trophy since coach wirtz started coaching four years ago.

the sport is not as popular as others — basketball or football, but this is because of all the hard work and the lack of knowledge in it. coach wirtz has tried to change this and has succeeded. when he first came here, there were only seven runners and now there are 39.

fearless football fellows fight foes from foreign fields the football season had a new look in more ways than one. the huskies built from the foundation up beginning with a new athletic director and coaching staff. their uniforms enhanced the players looks, and the offense was revamped with several new plays added, while the defense showed a 5-3 look.

soccer — yourself and the ball yourself and the ball; soccer. complete with freezing weather and "fluke goals." temperatures drop to 19 and four games are forced to be rescheduled. that was soccer '75.

weather was a major problem this year along with the ensuing poor field conditions. coach doug taylor, crossing his fingers for next year, commented, "playing in the winter like we have for the last years, we wound up with colds, bad fields, and all that, which presents a problem. but the season has been changed to the fall for next year, so ...."

the highlight of the season was the defeat of normandy on a cold; rain — stormy day in december. it was the first time in ritenour soccer history that the vikings were beat, and the win was a shut-out, 2-0.

a snag hit the team midway in the season, when they lost two games and tied one; but the team regained steam, and finished the season with a respectable 9-9-3 record.

it was a hard-to-come-back struggle for the huskie wrestlers as they were worked over by graduation seven-fold. inexperience prevented members from attaining any of the honors received in '74. all in all it ended in a disappointing season as they grappled for a 0-12 record. but perhaps this old clinche may console participants & coaches — "better luck next year . . ."

but not quite

full of confidence and anticipation, the basketball huskies entered the missouri 4a state tournament, only to be edged by mccluer in a one point overtime victory.

the huskies suffered the anxieties of a near miss again in the blue-gray basketball tournament, placing second behind parkway west. hustle and talent were two strong advantages the huskies had over most other teams. for the second time, jeff prosser, was chosen a member of the all conference team. greg luna was awarded best defensive player by the team while ricky maclin broke alvin boyd's previous rebound record of 249, by bringing down 258 rebounds.

it was the year of the almost for the 13 and 12 basketball huskies.

girl cagers grab 2nd in regional the girls' entry in the state regional tournament held february 10-15 at pattonville senior high marked another stepping stone in progress for girls sports.

seeded fourth, and with a 7-2 season, the girls managed to capture second place in the tourney. they made their tournament debut in style with a 48-17 victory over hazelwood west. the squad continued in tourney play by edging top-seeded duchesne out of competition, defeating the pioneers 49-46. the squad was unable to move into the first round of the missouri 2a state girls basketball tourney as they had hoped as incarnate word rousted ritenour from the title 42-31.

the bump, set, spike, new dances? no, merely techniques most often used in the world of volleyball.

records are made to be broken and the track team did it in fine fashion. a total of seven varsity and eight sophomore records were broken. another record went by the boards as ten cindermen qualified for the state tournament. kevin muhn in high jump, rick maclin in 120 high hurdles, 180 low hurdles, and 100 yard dash. brian joye in the 2-mile run, ed heigl in the mile, the two mile relay team of mark fels, pat kreher, bill adams, and gene ebbinghaus, two pole vaulters, rick martin and dan boulgard.

for the second year, varsity finished with an 8-2 record bringing the overall record of three years to 24-6. sophomores established a 7-3 record.

leroy's boys slide into semifinals bottom of the ninth. bases are loaded. two outs. score is 3-0. batter's count is 3-2. it seems as if the world rests on the pitcher's shoulders. he can sense the crowd's anxiousness. he can either win or lose the ball game on this one pitch, but he is confident. he studies his opponent, the wind up, the pitch. batter tips it into the stands. the crowd is tense.

again, another pitch. this time, contact is made between ball and bat and is hit high and far over right field. is it caught? what do you think? ritenour's baseball team had an exceptional season.

first place trophies were racked up by the team including the district crown which advanced them into state championship play.

inexperience was the key word in tennis as six of the eleven varsity members were underclassmen, and three had never participated in any form of competition.

with the players gaining experience, consistency, and skill, the tennis team looks forward to bettering their compiled 3-11 record next year.

steady improvement shows results steady improvement throughout the season brought the golf team to a 6-7-1 record, their best in three years.

picking up speed at the end, the team won their last four out of five dual meets. the team placed fifth in the league tournament, and tied for eighth in the district.

student council, an a to z year

"give me an a . . . we've got the gateway arch, b . . . " this popular radio and television advertisement could well be applied to student council this year. They did it from a — activities to their z — zeal. among the things student council sponsored were: homecoming, elections, gto game, student-faculty basketball game, battle of the bands, christmas dinner, door decorations contest, seminars, student exchanges, and the annual flag survey. perhaps the most challenging, but rewarding duty was the masc conventions which involved 1000 delegates visiting ritenour for three days.

moving ahead to improve student government rennovations in student council included a thought of the week. one example: "getting an idea should be like sitting on a tack, it should make you get up and do something."

requests for action on bills for increased student parking, student lounge, more park benches, and a smoking lounge were taken, but did not come through. well, as the old saying goes, "if you don't succeed, try, try, again."

success or failure, passed or tabled, council members will remember the a-z year.

rhythmettes play host and take honors too sponsoring a pom-pon clinic for 23 schools can become pretty hectic as it well did. All decorations were hung when five minutes before the clinic was to begin — santa claus and his reindeer came tumbling down from their ceiling positions.

other rhythmette activities besides the clinic included participation in the fourth of july overland parade and providing halftime entertainment for football and basketball games.

terpsichore lets the "sunshine" in

"sunshine," a popular song by john denver, set the stage for terpsichore's annual show presented on december 5 & 6 in the lower girl's gym. the dance club, in its performance; illustrated modern, interpretive and jazz dances. elcin mazlum, exchange student from turkey, taught the girls a popular folk dance from her country which they also performed. original costumes made by the girls added to the overall effect of the routines, and all in all, the evening's performance held a little something for everyone. other appearances this year by terpsichore were made at the masc convention, and at the state physical convention held at the marriott hotel.

time for fashion, time for fun

the fashion show is just one of the many activities rgaa and r club are involved with. a volleyball tournament, sponsored by r club, gave the student body a chance to show off their skills and knowledge of volleyball. the highlight of the year is the annual banquet held at heritage house which salutes the year's end of activities.

afs again sponsored its annual talent show, which is one of the major fund-raising activities for ritenour's foreign exchange program. "frogbreath" was one of the major headliners, along with several other musicians, singers, comics, and dancers. lynn lawson's superb acrobatic performance won her first prize. added attractions, such as the faculty's humor and the old pie-in-the face routine, made it a zany, entertaining evening.

big chief loquendus says "how"

john denver holds a special place in the hearts of loquendus staff members. it was the old "sunshine on my shoulders" boy who autographed sue mottin's poem about him for the literary magazine. besides john denver, loquendus featured another noteable. linda pastan, nationally recognized peot, was so pleased with a poem sr. brian joye had written about her, that she offered a poem for the magazine. denver, mottin, pastan, joye and 30 other ritenour writers, artists, and photographers were represented in big chief loquendus '75.

practice is a word marching band knows well. under the direction of mr. anthony debo, marching band members practice an average of nine hours during the school week for five half-time performances during the football season; each performance lasting 12-15 minutes. is all this for nothing? marching band members don't think so.

in addition to half-time shows, marching band competed in the annual marching band competition in kirksville, october 9. marching band returned home with second place honors in street marching competition, and third place in show.

homecoming weekend saw them performing in the parade and half-time show. a busy schedule, but they just keep marching on and on and on . . . ...

for the first time, stage band was offered as a class last fall. meanwhile, concert band was expanded to a five day program.

concert band was kept busy preparing for its annual winter and spring concerts and hosting the all suburban band festival.

stage band moved into the limelight when they performed for grade schools and jr. highs. the purchase of new sound equipment enabled the group to perform at their first festival and made them an integral part of the assemblies.

the season was highlighted for both groups when they presented their first outdoor concert the last week of school.

phantoms of the field trip known as "phantoms of the field trip," orchestra members earned their travellers' stripes on the kiddie circuit. the 62 piece orchestra presented concerts at many district elementary schools, delighting the young critics with everything from bach to barry white.

in a year where ritenour played host to many organizations, orchestra took straight a's at the all suburban orchestra festival conducted in the costelow field house.

bach, beethoven, brahms & byers it may not make the charts, but choir's "what is this lovely fragrance?" did make the singers the first professionally recorded group in ritenour's history. the song was part of an album put together by the st. louis christmas carolers association which featured area choirs.

a mobile group, choir traveled from cape girardeau to marion school drawing smiles and applause from appreciative audiences. in march, choir combined with orchestra to make "sugar" a sweet success.

torchlight ceremony honors students george lehr, state auditor, presided at this year's honor society induction ceremony as guest speaker. 15% of the senior class was represented in honor society, 10% having been chosen in their junior year. former graduates spoke and the traditional torchlight ceremony was conducted, which added a magical touch to the evening.

climbing a 20 ft. ladder may seem like a strange job, but av club receives such requests often. established in 1955, the club is basically a service organization that keeps track of all the equipment and helps clubs on the sound and lighting of their stage presentations.

av has handled the lighting and sound systems for terpsichore and afs, and for the spring and fall plays. it is not all work however. this is the first year the club has not had a christmas party due to the economic situation. teachers were invited and film favorites laurel and hardy and the marx brothers were shown. a good combination of soda and doughnuts were served.

members of the club work in the av office whenever they have a free period. advisor cliff underwood states, "they'd be here all the time if they could."

making students feel at home bringing the library closer to the school and to the student body is the aim of the library club.

display cases in the halls were regularly decorated by the club. materials were bought with money made from projects done throughout the year.

during the christmas season, the club decorated the library, and tried to make it a more comfortable place to be.

the voice of ritenour

. — / — . / — .. / . — . — .. / — — — / ... — / . / .... / — .. — ... / . / . — / ... / . — .. / . / — — — unless you know morse code, the above message might not mean much to you. to radio club, however, it holds a special meaning. started in 1958, the club supports a radio station, (waøjby), which helps club members receive their radio license, and instructs members in setting up their own radio at home. funny situations are common for the radio club. one member after climbing up the tower could not get his safety belt off. he really grew to appreciate that tower and during one transmission, a local st. louis operator tried to convince everyone he was operating from china.

memories revived through fta looking back on your grade school days may bring back a few hazy memories, but not for fta members. each year a few of the girls go on visitations to different grade schools and act as teacher's aides for a day.

fta stands for future teachers of america. the organization began for people who would like to be teachers, but now is for people who just want to help teachers.

foreign language programs have always been popular at ritenour, and out of this popularity has grown the spanish and german clubs. december 16, the clubs, along with the spanish and french classes, joined forces to present a program of foreign culture for parents. individual activities by the spanish club included eating dinner at the hacienda restaurant, and a study of spanish culture. the highlight came when a native of costa rica, mrs. paul murphy, spoke to the group.

german clubs' extra-curricular fun included a canoe float trip in southern missouri.

this interest in foreign cultures has led students to travel to such places as canada and mexico.

speech-theatre presents performances bob watkins, dressed as santa claus, and other speech-theatre club members, brought smiles to the faces of young patients at normandy osteopathic hospital. the club visited them in december putting on a puppet show and giving out presents.

in addition to charity projects, speech-theatre sponsors the spring and fall plays. profits made from productions are used for future performances and to make purchases that would improve presentations.

starting in '76, the club will present only one play.

pawn 4 to king bishop 5 chess is not a hard game to learn. the challenge of it is learning to play well. chess club focuses on that challenge.

february 1, the ritenour chess club hosted their fifth annual tournament with twelve schools participating. also this year, the club played in a league tournament. when not playing other schools, matches are played among club members. practice is the only way to improve, and chess club provides that opportunity.

buzzing to success

three long years have gone by since ritenour's scholar quiz team has enjoyed a victory. all that was changed this year when the team buzzed by parkway central and metro. scholar quiz members demonstrated that quickness was the key for success on the show which was televised may 30.

ritenour then went on to the quarterfinals where they were defeated by belleville east. all the practice was not in vain, however, as the team buzzed ritenour to victory.

the good thing about being a junior is that you don't get hassled as much as when you're a sophomore (dee stephan) . . . the most unusual thing that happened to me this year is when a janitor almost ran over me with his bicycle in the hallway (mark tohlen) . . . basketball is my favorite sport because it's not a contact sport (selina madison) . . . the milk is funky. sometimes it tastes like the cows have eaten loco weed (sheryl jacobs) . . . what's great about being a senior? winning battlecry!! (vicki roberson) i had two lunches, but they wouldn't let me keep them (vicki navo)

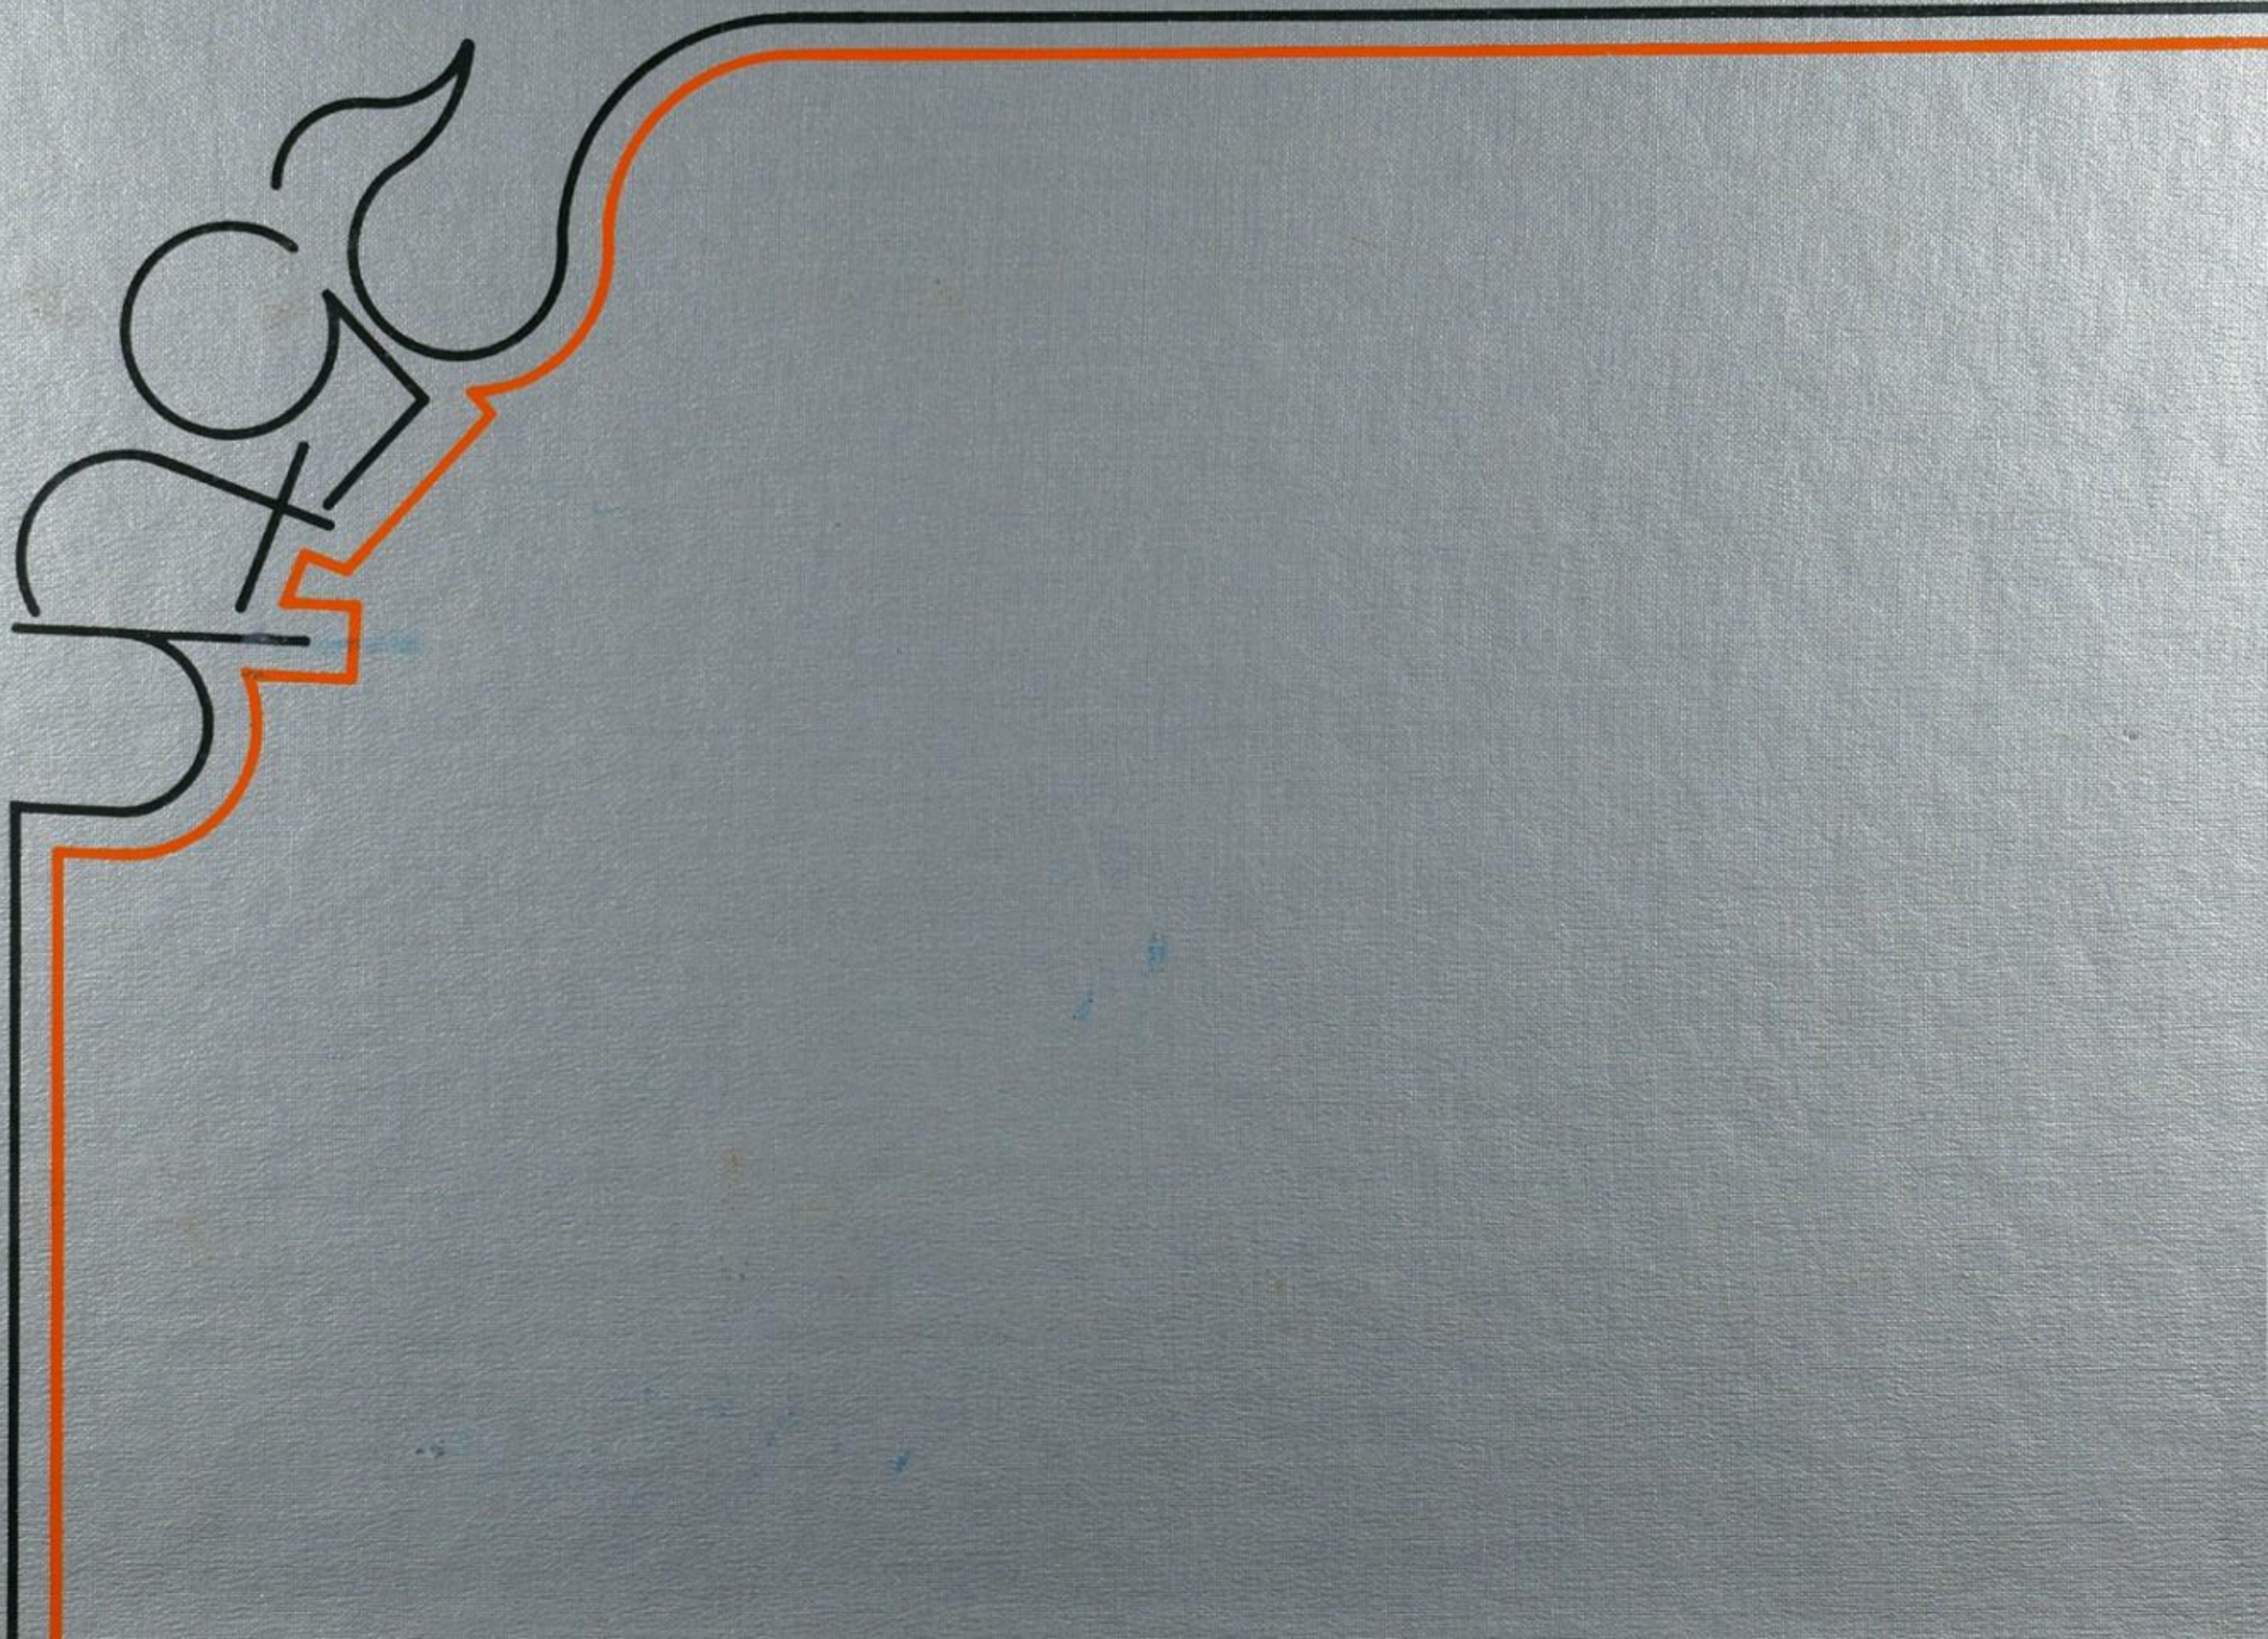
together we sang, danced, played and studied. although many things take the work of individuals, in the end there is a feeling of unity and fellowship.

this past year, ritenour has seen a rebirth in ideas and spirit. the cobwebs brought on by apathy have been brushed aside revealing to us new horizons and a pride that was all but lost.

in searching together towards these goals, we have not only found pride in what we have accomplished, but we have also discovered something even more valuable . . . a sense of concern. a concern for not only what is now, but for what is to come. through this common ground of communication, any task, no matter how cumbersome, may be accomplished. for communication is the key to success in this everyday world. it unlocks the door of ignorance, the cape of mediocrity and the gates of wisdom.


the horizons which we are striving to attain are within our reach, but to secure them, we must further our efforts and continue in the same spirit of dedication and renewal. a delicate machine has been set into motion . . .
